2017 Humanitarian Award: John Quigley, OFM

John Quigley, OFM ('62)

Fr. John Quigley is an artist, preacher, and human rights activist. For the first third of his life, he lived in Canada, the next in the United States, and the most recent third of his life he spent in Europe, primarily in Rome and Geneva.

He began his pastoral and preaching ministry in 1974 as co-leader with Richard Rohr of the New Jerusalem Community in Cincinnati.

In 1979-81, John studied the Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius with the Jesuits at Milford, Ohio and in 1982 became the coordinator of social justice and peace concerns for the friars of his Franciscan province. There he published an international monthly magazine "Mustard Seed."

Called to Rome in 1988, he was the international coordinator for the efforts of the Franciscan Friars (OFM) in the areas of justice, peace making and care for creation. From there in 1998 he went to Geneva, Switzerland as the Director of Franciscans International a Non-Governmental Organization at the United Nations, where for ten years John coordinated work for the promotion and protection of human rights.

He led a number of pilgrimages to Geneva, Rome and Assisi entitled "St. Francis and Human Rights" as well as a human rights pilgrimage to Ireland visiting spots in Dublin and in the North where Franciscans have made various efforts to heal the bitter wounds of "The Troubles."

Currently, as a member of the team for "Franciscan Pilgrimage Programs," he leads groups of pilgrims to Rome and Assisi to retrace the footsteps of St. Francis of Assisi.

For 30 years he has preached an annual retreat at Maggie Valley, North Carolina for groups of people who are mostly Roman Catholic, religious women and lay couples.

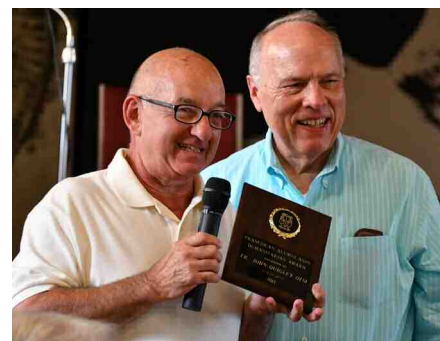

Of John Quigley, Fr. Richard Rohr, OFM, has said, "John and I worked together in the pastoring of the New Jerusalem Community for eight years and we largely think and operate in a very similar way—but he also has 20 years of European, United Nations, and International work added onto that! You will not be disappointed in his theology, his spirituality or his excellent sense of purpose. I cannot recommend him highly enough."

A sister at a province in Canada stated, "In 2010, Fr. John Quigley preached a week-long retreat to our most senior and infirm Sisters. Our Sisters had been experiencing significant turmoil due to an upcoming move from our own care to public facilities. John's focus on Jesus as the revelation of God in our personal histories helped them to accept these impending changes with their own personal response to the Divine."

Savio Russo '62 accepted the award on John's behalf from presenter Paul LaRou '62

When John is leading a painting retreat, he sometimes encourages the participants by saying, "God's spirit is moving through us. Let the brush speak."

2017 Christian Life Award: Jeff Scheeler, OFM

Rick Kasper ('70, above) and Henry Beck '70 presented the award to Jeff Scheeler '70

Fr. Jeff Scheeler ('70), OFM was the unanimous choice to receive the FAA Christian Life Award for 2017. Fr. Jeff was honored by two of his classmates, Rick Kasper and Fr. Henry Beck, OFM at the FAA Banquet on June 24, 2017. Rick highlighted Fr. Jeff's early humble service characterized by a picture of Jeff in St. Francis Seminary's "Brown & White" publication in which Jeff was smiling big while washing out a large garbage can. Rick noted that Jeff was a gifted writer, winning the essay contest his senior year and selected as co-editor of the "Brown & White."

During his formation years at Duns Scotus College, Jeff served in the music ministry playing guitar and singing for weekend liturgies at St. Alexander Parish in the Detroit area and at Duns Scotus. Rick noted how Jeff also volunteered at Sarah Fisher Home for Children, and that he was the lead in theatrical plays at St. Francis and Duns Scotus.

During his formation years at novitiate and at St. Leonard College, Jeff continued using his gifts to give God glory in the music ministry and serving in cross-cultural ministry at Jemez Indian Pueblo.

Fr. Henry Beck '70 went on to highlight Fr. Jeff's priestly and fraternal ministry:

We give thanks this evening for Jeff's compassionate spirit and generous service as a pastor, as the director of novices, as a campus minister, and for his many years of ministry in provincial administration.

Jeff has served a total of twenty-one years in our SJB provincial administration: as a councilor, as our vicar-provincial, and as our minister-provincial over the past nine years.

Jeff has shown the same pastoral presence in his role as minister-provincial as he showed in the parish and in formation. He is a very fine "listener," and we would all trust and know that we would "be heard" when we talked with him.

Jeff is also an "encourager" as he would support us to try new skills in new ministries, and he would also "speak truth" to us and "challenge us" to ever be mindful of our belonging to a brotherhood of real men with their strengths and weaknesses.

We are indeed grateful this evening, Jeff, for you as our brother and minister; and we want to honor you and express our gratitude for you with this Christian Life Award this evening.

Congratulations, Jeff! Well done!

Shortly after receiving the award, Jeff replied on Facebook:

I wish to thank all of you in the Franciscan Alumni Association for giving me the 2017 Christian Life Award. I am deeply honored and grateful. May God bless all of us as we strive to live out our Christian and Franciscan vocation!

Fr. Aubert Grieser Memorial Glee Club — IN CONCERT!

Whether you were in the Glee Club at St. Francis Seminary or not, you may recall some of the songs that Fr. Aubert used in concerts and also in the music classes he taught over the years.

We will attempt to revive some of those memories during a sing-along concert after dinner on Saturday night of the reunion this summer.

We're assembling a group of volunteers to help form a memorial Glee Club for the event and to pay homage to our great music teacher and director, Fr. Aubert Grieser '43.

Aubie's Glee Clubs were like a scene out of the movie Sister Act. He could take a mediocre group of 40 kids and, after countless hours of intense, day-and-night rehearsals, turn them into an award-winning choral group.

In February, 1994, at the age of 73, Fr. Aubert's earthly life ended due to Leukemia, but his legacy lives on in our memories.

Since we can't possibly do justice to the complex choral arrangements that P. Aubs used, we'll be singing arrangements that are somewhat simplified... okay, very simplified. So, if you're thinking of volunteering to sing with the group, don't worry about having to practice too much.

As you may recall, the Glee Club repertoire was quite eclectic, featuring songs in foreign languages, classical, country, rock n roll, bluegrass, and barbershop quartet styles. During a typical performance lasting more than an hour, the audience would hear young seminarians singing about religion... and drinking... and girls.

Fr. Aubert's repertoire always included songs about girls: A few of the titles were Spanish Ladies, Oh Cindy, Bonnie Eloise, Clementine, and Bless 'em All.

If you would like to participate in the Glee Club concert, please sign up at <https://toms598.wixsite.com/gleeclub> where you'll find sheet music and recordings so you can practice on your own. We'll also rehearse in Study Hall on Saturday of the reunion from 1:30-3:30 pm.

Even the religious songs were sometimes funny, like The Old Ark's a-Moverin' and Ezekiel Connected Them Dry Bones.

He sometimes incorporated silly nursery songs like Old Mother Hubbard and Little Jack Horner... but these were not simple songs; they were some of the most difficult to sing, with opera-like melodies.

And perhaps most challenging of all — all the music had to be memorized. No song sheets or lyric sheets were permitted during the concerts. And every singer's eyes had to be focused on the director—or else! If you didn't know better, you'd think Fr. Aubert hated you, by the way he glared—and sometimes got in your face—if you weren't following his direction and performing your best.

The exams for Glee Club were fairly easy. They usually consisted of writing out the lyrics of a few randomly selected songs. You better believe we knew the lyrics after all that practice!

Fr. Aubert was ordained a priest on July 12, 1952. He then spent a year in Santa Fe as assistant pastor at the cathedral, and chaplain to the New Mexico School for the Deaf. From there, he taught speech and music at Duns Scotus College until 1960, when he came to St. Francis Seminary and formed the first Glee Club. Over the next 20 years, the Glee Club served in fostering vocations and entertaining students' parents and supporters such as the Seraphic Seminary Society. The Glee Club was also the backbone of the annual Transitus service and won superior ratings in state competitions.

2017 Reunion and Retreat at Former SFS

Thursday night at The Public House

We tried a new format for the 2017 Reunion that included ample opportunities for interacting with alumni and former teachers, as well as a mini-retreat on Saturday morning. The result was a very entertaining and spiritual weekend.

Festivities began on Thursday evening, June 22, at The Public House in the Cheviot area of Cincinnati. Honestly, we were hoping that 10 or 15 people would show up for this early kickoff to the reunion weekend, so we initially gathered in a small corner of the bar area. However, there were soon more than 30 of us, elbow to elbow, and so we had a large enough group to justify moving downstairs to the spacious party room.

Mark Kling ('75), whose son owns the pub, had arranged for us to use the party room for free, and a good time was had by all!

The home base for out-of-towners and also the meeting place for morning prayer was the Quality Inn & Suites hotel in Fairfield.

Deacon Butch Feldhaus ('75) led the morning prayers.

On Friday morning, several alumni participated in group activities that included an Escape-The-Room Challenge and visiting Entertainment Junction,

A large group of alumni and guests gathered for dinner in the Study Hall of the former St. Francis Seminary for a picnic-style dinner and social. The entertainment for the evening was provided by several former teachers who shared anecdotes and answered questions from the group, including Fr. Tom, Fr. Ric, Fr. Valentine, and (former) Fr. Savio.

Many of us returned to the former seminary on Saturday morning for a Reflection on Franciscan Spirituality, led by Fr. Henry Beck ('70) and Rick Kasper ('70). There were wonderful insights and good discussions about our continued connection to St. Francis and his philosophy.

The whole group came together for 5 pm Mass with celebrant Fr. Ric Schneider ('50) at St. John Neumann Church a few miles down Mill Road. Several alumni helped provide music for the Mass.

Afterward we gathered at the Seminary study hall for a delicious dinner prepared by the St. Maximilian Knights of Columbus.

The Franciscan Alumni Association's

Christian Life Award was presented to Fr. Jeff Scheeler ('70) by Fr. Henry Beck ('70) and Rick Kasper ('70). The Humanitarian Award was presented to John Quigley, OFM ('62) by Paul LaRou ('62). Savio Russo accepted the award for John Quigley

Dennis Kirby ('56), one of the founding fathers of the Franciscan Alumni Association, presented a historical overview of this organization that has served its members and several worthy causes for nearly 30 years.

The evening ended with a remembrance service and singing of The Ultima.

Key Events in the History of the Franciscan Alumni Assn

Many alumni of the Franciscan formation schools have had reunions ever since the first graduates emerged from hallowed halls.

Then, back in 1989, a few visionaries endeavored to give a greater purpose to the reunions and opportunities to re-connect. Dennis Kirby, George Ski, and others formulated a mission statement and operating construct that has served the members well. They also worked diligently to find alumni and invite them to participate, eventually resulting in a contact list of far more than 1,000 members. The Franciscan Archives office was of great assistance in this effort by providing various publications and documents.

The initial focus that was limited to graduates of St. Francis High School Seminary has expanded to include all students and faculty of the formation schools for brothers and priests in the provinces of Our Lady of Guadalupe and St. John the Baptist.

The structure of the annual chapter has gone from a Sunday Mass and lunch to a four-day reunion offering multiple opportunities for fraternity, prayer, dining, and entertainment.

The following is a high-level, chronological account of how the Franciscan Alumni Association came to be and evolved, highlighting several key events, developments, and contributions along the way.

Franciscan Alumni Association Awards

Many of our members have been recognized over the years for their contributions to society and church. The physical award is an engraved plaque, accompanied by a presentation speech.

There are two award categories: Christian Life and Humanitarian.

Members of the Franciscan Alumni Board propose nominees and vote during a quarterly meeting. The winners are honored during the annual Chapter/reunion.

The following is a list of those who have been singled out for the positive impact they have made on others.

There were a few years in which only one award or no award was presented. This sometimes happened due to miscommunication, i.e., we're only human, prone to mistake.

And sometimes we couldn't decide on a single recipient, so we presented two awards in one of the categories that year. Once in a while we presented an award in an additional category, such as "Founding Father."

We hope that this list is complete.

If you notice an omission or error, please inform editor@franciscan-alumni.org.

The first awards were presented in 1994.
